And here we present the "Mirror"

Within these covers we hope you will find not merely a yearbook, but a complete and enjoyable handbook of memories, that in the months and years to come will provide a laugh . . . a memory . . . and also a thought about the significance of our heritage here at Bates.

Yearbooks will travel far these days . . . we hope that wherever our sons and daughters may be, when they look at their yearbooks, they will see in them truly "mirrored" the very essence of what they are fighting and working for . . . good fellowship . . . trust . . . cooperation . . . unfettered learning . . . and above all, individualism manifested in the right to do and say what we think . . . not empty phrases and trite jargon, for we have it pictured and written here for you . . . a living, vital democracy—here is our "Mirror."

THE MIRROR

Annual of Bates College

Lewiston, Maine

MARGARET YVONNE CHASE, Editor-in-chief

HENRY GREENWOOD COREY, Business Manager

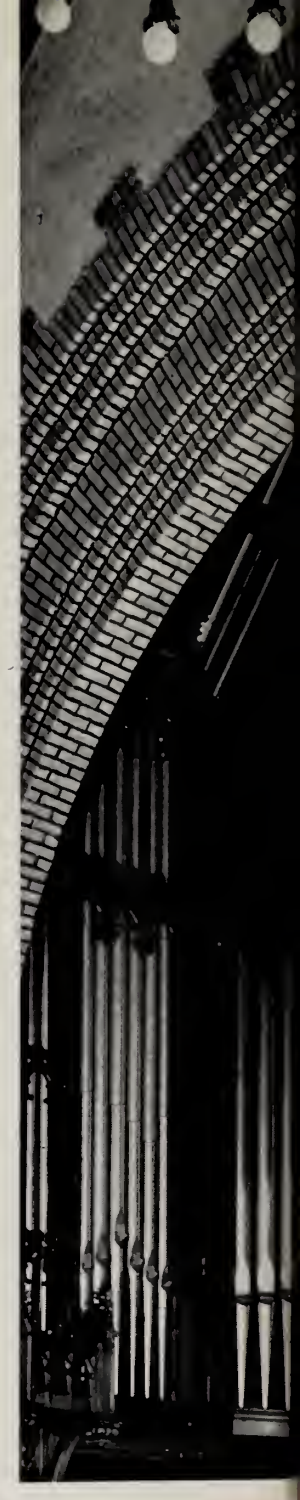
1943



To the men of '43 who leave to fight the enemy on land, on the sea, and in the air goes the God-speed of your Alma Mater. You are to have part in one of the most momentous crises of history. Our country is in mortal peril. We are all "expendable," but youth most of all. This is war's tragedy. But, upon your return, you will have the supreme satisfaction of having helped to establish a world order, for your children and the children of all men, freed from the menace of aggression. To you we give the torch of freedom. You will hold it high.

ACTIVITIES

With the entire world faced with new and challenging problems, the 1942-43 Student Council found many new duties to be undertaken as their part in the war effort. To meet student needs a Defense Bureau was established providing information on all branches of the armed services. Meatless meals were held until rationing became effective and the proceeds used to buy war bonds. Freshmen rules were reduced in scope and the Council exercised more control over the Committee of Thirteen in its enforcement of Freshmen rules. Since the war was awakening new interest in the Pacific, a course in Pacific culture was suggested to the administration. The Council also cooperated with the administration in orienting the student body to the war curriculum and necessary changes in student life at Bates.

Quite a few innovations and changes were made by the 42-43 Council. A committee, composed of Student Government and Student Council officers was organized to act as a clearing house on common campus problems. This committee has proven to be a stepping-stone to better relations between the two governing bodies throughout the year. The Council, acting with the administration and other student bodies, was partly instrumental in solving the club problem and organizing the present program. A new series of chapel talks on contemporary events was sponsored by the

Student Council

Council. The old Constitution was rewritten completely and submitted to the men for approval. The Council recommended rescinding the obsolete Smoke Walk rules and the recommendation was passed by the faculty. Fewer men's assemblies were held and the Council attempted to make the necessary assemblies as well attended as possible. The Council cooperated with the band in arranging for the band to attend the Maine game. Through the Council's efforts the hour examination rule was extended to include the summer session.

The various routine duties of the Council were handled as usual. The Mayorality campaign was held in May, although campaigning was reduced to two nights and one day. Cheerleading was supervised by the Council and new jackets purchased for cheerleaders. The Council administered Freshmen rules and guided the Committee of Thirteen. Rallies were sponsored in the fall; the Back-to-Bates rally being particularly successful. Disciplinary action among the men was under the jurisdiction of the Council. In cooperation with the Varsity Club, tutoring was provided. Information concerning life and activities of Bates was furnished to other colleges. And, as usual, contributions for many worthy causes were donated by the Council.

M. McGrail, M. Soper, F. Rolfe,
V. Hunt, B. Littlefield, R. Stone, F. Walker,

In this time of crisis, we are all reexamining fundamental concepts to find what they really mean. Student government has followed this prevalent trend and seriously asked itself, "What is the function of this organization in the lives of Bates girls? In what directions should Student Government develop and increase its activities and which present emphases should be decreased?"

A really vital and distinctive feature in the Bates Student Government set-up is the Honor System. The purpose of the Honor System is to make group living a more satisfying experience and to put the responsibility for obedience to rules on the individual girl. These rules make a greater degree of freedom available to girls than would be possible otherwise, for without this system, very strict supervision would become necessary.

The Board is always working to obtain privileges which the girls desire and to promote social activities which make college life more enjoyable and gracious. The board has obtained several new privileges this year. The Seniors may split their two eleven "pers", smoking by the girls is now permitted in the Chase Hall lounge, more time is given the girls after dances in the gym, and other improvements are being considered.

V. Chase, E. Younger, J. Campbell, B. Dearborn.
P. Chase, J. Styer, F. Skinner, C. Parkhurst.

Student Government realizes that it cannot do "business as usual" in this war situation. Careful thought is demanded for the solution of the new problems raised by the speed up program and the entrance of high school girls in January. A committee worked in cooperation with Student Council to plan the best possible orientation and guidance program for these campus newcomers.

Certain customary Student Government projects may have to be modified because of rationing and restrictions. The informal Friday night Open Houses at the Union, the annual Student Government banquet, at which Mrs. Edwin Wright led us to ponder over "Whither the Bates Coed?", after dinner coffees, and Mother's Week-end in cooperation with W.A.A. and C.A. were some of the usual activities that took place this year. The helpful address books, magazines in the dormitory and partial responsibility for refreshments at mid-years and entertaining local coeds also come under Student Government.

The value of this organization is measurable chiefly by the extent to which its membership, which includes every girl on campus, participates in its program and enters into its spirit.

Student Government

Christian Association

A. St. Dennis, D. Doucas,
N. Terry,
R. Keach, E. Sherblom,

The Bates Christian Association, whose membership comprises the whole student body, is affiliated with the New England Student Christian Movement, the National Intercollegiate Christian Council, and the World Student Christian Federation. Its program is therefore concerned with the application of Christian principles on the campus, in the community, in the nation, and in the world. Believing that one of the most important characteristics of Christianity is the spirit of inclusiveness, the C.A. encourages the participation of people of all races, creeds, and nationalities in the privileges and responsibilities of social living.

The executive committee, composed of a President, Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer, are elected annually by the student body. The Cabinet is made up of these four officers and the commission leaders chosen by them. The function of the Cabinet is to oversee and coordinate the total program of the C.A., while the actual planning and execution of the various activities of the organization rest largely with the members of the commissions. These include the Campus Service, Community Service, Social, Freshmen, Social Action, Reconstruction and War Services, Conference and Publicity, Religion, and Deputations Commissions. The great diversity of the commissions' work is a concomitant of the conviction of the Association leaders that Christian principles, though they imply a distinctive approach to the solving of problems, are applicable to all areas of human living. Through such activities as servicing the infirmaries, conducting holiday parties at the orphanage, assisting in the Freshman orientation program, sponsoring discussions and study groups on the problems of the peace and on race relations, contacting Bates men in the armed services, providing chaperons for the Saturday night dances, encouraging attendance at religious conferences, planning Vesper Services, and sending deputations to neighboring churches, the C.A. seeks to bring students to a realization of the rich possibilities of Christian living.

One of the projects which deserves special mention because it was one of the most successful and promising of those initiated this year is a series of discussion groups for Freshmen held during the first semester. These groups met at faculty homes under upperclass leadership and provided an unusual opportunity for Freshmen to talk over the problems of orientation to college life.

No adequate idea of the scope of C.A. activities can be given in these few words, of course. But because they set for themselves such a high goal, no one realizes better than those most interested in the Association its failure to measure up to the Christian ideal. Both in methods and in spirit C.A. leaders constantly find themselves inadequate. We believe, however, that participation in the activities of the Christian Association can be not only a testing ground for our attitudes and abilities, but can provide invaluable experience in the discipline and development of growing Christian personalities.

W. A. A. Board

N. Leonard,
M. Dolloff, J. MacKinnon,

The Women's Athletic Association's Executive Board is composed of eleven girls, who are managers of about fifteen sports, supervisors of the activities of the W.A.A. clubs, and chairmen of a varied social program. The Executive Board's helping hand is the Junior Board whose members represent all the dormitories on campus and act as publicity agents to keep the Bates girls informed of what is going on in the A.A. world.

The organization, of which every Bates girl is a member, wishes to promote a lasting interest and sportsmanlike participation in athletics and to co-operate with the Physical Education Department to develop to the utmost the physical and mental efficiency of every girl. Because its program is for all the girls, the W.A.A. Board tries to meet the needs, interests and abilities of each girl by providing a wide variety of sports in different seasons. Some of them are team games; some are individual. They range from the strenuous game of field hockey to the more moderate one of archery to the light one of ping pong. Beginners are welcomed. If the sport is suited to competition, either sister-class or inter-dorm may be organized. In non-team sports there may be individual competition. For some sports an honorary varsity team is chosen to have its picture in the MIRROR. In picking the teams the committees consider sportsmanship, ability, and the number of practices attended. All these activities are supervised by upperclass student coaches, who teach, referee, supervise the safety and work with the managers to provide fun for the group. These coaches are capable leaders selected by the Board

The W.A.A. clubs, Skiing, Dancing, and Basketball, are for those people who are especially skilled and interested in these things. To enter the clubs one must serve as an apprentice or pass certain tests at a tryout.

On the W.A.A. social calendar are such popular events as the Hare and Hound Chase, Back-to-Bates Tea, Health Week, Banquet, and May Day Breakfast. For the Freshmen it provides a week of orientation to make its set-up known. In sponsoring some events it works in co-operation with chairmen from Student Government and Christian Association; for example there is Mothers' Week-end and Mid-year Recreation.

Another phase of its program which is pertinent in these times when fitness is so important, is its training system whereby girls wake up with a shower, limit their between-meal snacks and cigarettes, and get a specified amount of sleep nightly. Some awards are given for training which is required as a basis for other awards such as numerals, a sweater, or a cup. In general, the basis for individual awards is sportsmanship, interest, athletic ability, leadership, and general attitude.

The W.A.A. is for all Bates girls. The chosen girls who plan the program at weekly meetings spend many hours considering what Bates girls need and want and offer their program to everybody.

Outing Club

The Bates College Outing Club, started in 1920, yields first place among American colleges for age and size of membership, only to Dartmouth. In normal times its program includes mountain climbs, canoe trips, a skating rink, many day and overnight trips to its Thorncrag and Sabattus Cabins, and the three day Winter Carnival. This year, because of transportation difficulties and the accelerated college schedule, the O. C. program has of necessity been limited, and mountain climbs and canoe trips been replaced by supper hikes. The Carnival was shortened to a day and a half.

The Club also has a good, if sometimes inadequate supply, of skiis, toboggans, snow scooters and snowshoes, as well as packs, axes and other camping equipment which it loans to students. This year restricted travel has made this equipment appreciated more than ever.

One of the more recent activities taken on by the Club is the care and maintenance of a section of the vast Appalachian Trail which stretches from Maine to Georgia. Ours is a forty mile section in the Rangely Lake region, part of which we scouted and built and which we have maintained for five years.

The Club is managed by a board of eight directors and thirty-six Junior Body members. Dues are $1.50 per year and almost every student in college is a member. The accumulated savings of many years were sufficient for the Club to buy recently a War Bond for $740 which at the end of twelve years will return $1000 to the Club. Meanwhile the bond can be cashed any time the money is needed. Experience has shown such a reserve to be helpful as it was last year when the canoes and trailer were purchased.

Varsity Football

Although the Bates Varsity Football team suffered no loss in manpower for the last official season for the duration, the specter of the man from Mars was noticeable before and during the season. Nearly all of the potential Varsity were in some form of a reserve corps or another, so football was planned as usual.

At the first call for candidates, a fully experienced line reported with the exception of one end position. This could be capably filled by Jackie Joyce, who, as a freshman, had starred in football. Three of the most potent small-college backs in New England were on hand to augur well for a successful season, All-State Del Johnson, Mickey Walker and Arnie Card. The blocking back post was open to any aspirant, but Hal McGlory, also from a successful Frosh aggregate, and "Whitey" Kunkiewicz, were in the favored positions.

The first of a six game schedule was played against a powerful Trinity eleven in Hartford. The Hartford club started off rapidly, garnering two scores before the visiting team had much of an opportunity to show its wares. After the second of Trinity's touchdowns, the Cats put together a sustained drive of sixty-five yards to score with Joyce taking a pass from Walker for the counter. The attempted conversion by Norm Johnson was blocked, but Walker carried it through the line for the point. The second score was formed in much the same manner as the first. A steady drive was maintained, and Walker once more whipped a pass to Joyce. Interference was proclaimed by the officials, and Bates was awarded the ball at that point. On a smooth spinner play, Card crossed the double stripe. The final score was made by Walker on a straight line buck from the two yard marker.

Next Saturday afternoon saw the Bates Varsity in Boston matching Tufts. The contest began with a powerful show of strength by the opposition. On a long boot, Tufts drove Bates back to its own one yard line. Immediately Walker stepped behind his own goal line and calmly kicked to the twenty six. A poor return was made by the opposition and returned to the Tufts thirty on a well executed openfield run by Card. On a fourth down, "Whitey" was rushed into the fray. With fine support from a sturdy line, he took his own time and dropped a touchdown pass into the arms of Joyce. This ended the scoring for the afternoon. A total of 214 yards was amassed by the Bates footballers, while our line held the opposition to 19.

The following weekend brought a return to Boston for the yearly contest with Northeastern. Once more, Bates came out victorious, with the combination of excellent play and a few well earned breaks. For the third week in a row, Bates had gained over two hundred yards, and as the State Series opened with Maine, the club was installed as a favorite to cop the standard.

At the ringing up of the curtain on the annual State imbroglio, the Bates team was handed a setback by a careless array of officials. The foray opened true to form with Walker cracking over for the first score. After Norm Johnson split the uprights, the Garnet led by a score of 7-0. Immediately after this, another threat was stopped when Mickey's pass from the five was intercepted, and Maine hammered out yardage, but was halted on its own eighteen. As the quarter changed, Maine was on the Bates nineteen. Several short thrusts and an end sweep set Maine on the Garnet one, where Work stepped over for Maine's first score. However, Bates took heart at the failure of Hutchinson to convert the extra point. This made the score 7-6 in favor of Bates with about ten minutes left to play. When Walker blocked a touchdown pass, it appeared as if the latest threat was stymied. With one down left from the Bates twenty four, the Maine field general attempted another pass. All eligible receivers were blanketed, and a tackle behind the line appeared imminent. However, Red Morril, a tackle, was free. A pass to him netted the necessary yardage for a first down. An observant Bates aggregation protested that the pass-receiver, Morril, had been playing tackle on that play, but were overruled by the officials. The pictures showed later, indisputably the truth of this contention, but it was too late at that point to rehash the issue. Gaining new life from the unexpected present, the Maine team, scored three points to settle the contest.

This first setback did not put Bates out of the running for the championship. The Cats resolved to vent their rage against Bowdoin, at the first home game of the season. Again Bates started off well, gaining the scoring jump on the opposition. After the kick-off which Walker ran back to the thirty one, the Bates trio of versatile backs did not surrender the ball until they had countered. The score was fashioned when Del Johnson, altering the usual procedure, passed to Joyce on the goal line, from where he stepped over for the initial score. The placement was wide, leaving the score 6-0. A quick opening dash by Bowdoin following immediately upon the heels of a blocked kick by Hess placed the pigskin on the one. On the next play the score was tied. A momentary one point lead was enjoyed by Bowdoin when Donahue added to their touchdown total. A few minutes later, Donahue raced forty three yards on another quick opener to add six more points to Bowdoin's score. Attempt at conversion was wide leaving the score 13-6. Shortly after the opening of the second half, Card intercepted Bowdoin's only pass of the afternoon on his own three, running it back to the Bates thirty one. A twelve yard gain was then fashioned by this same operator, placing the ball on the forty three. Once more the passing formula of Walker to the air to Joyce brought results. A pass was grasped out of the hands of the two defending backs by the end, followed by a thirty-two yard reversed field drive by the All State receiver. Johnson's kick was wide leaving the score at 13-12. The contest ended with no change in the tally, and once more Bates had dropped a close one.

After a rest of a week and a half, the Cats entertained the Mules from Waterville for their curtain closer of the season. At the close of the first period, Walker lifted a boot sixty yards downfield. Jackie Joyce showed his opportunism by pouncing on the ball. This set the Garnet on the fourteen yard line of the invaders. Card and Johnson alternated moving the ball forward, with Card finally performing the desired task. Johnson calmly booted the ball through the uprights. A sustained march of sixty three yards brought a score to the visiting bench, but the attempted conversion was wide. A fagged Bates team, worn out from a season of iron man endurance, was unable to capitalize on its scoring possibilities from the twenty yard line and the one foot line in succeeding chapters. With a series of long runs, Caminiti climaxed an eighty yard march by crashing over for the winning point late in the last period. The punishment that the whole Bates team had absorbed during a bruising season had taken its toll in stamina, but not in heart. However, both are needed for a winning team, and Bates could not muster the necessary strength to stop the final assault by the Blue and Gray.

Thus ended what had begun as one of the most promising seasons in many years for the Bates footballers. The greatest single lack of the team was reserve material, to occasionally spell the first stringers.

Sports writers and coaches throughout the State recognized the value of our major operators, and many of them were named to be on the annual all-star teams. Orchids are tendered to all members of the outfit for their swell display of team work, unflinching zeal, ability to absorb punishment and return to the wars.

THE SEASON

At the close of the football season, Wade Marlette called out his basketball hopefuls. Once more a potent aggregation of athletes greeted him. Of the old guard, Monk, Wight, Boyan, Card, and Deering were present. A sophomore group headed by Jackie Joyce, also reported for practice. A working nucleus was the key-note, awaiting the careful tuning of a competent mentor.

On December 10th, the team made its annual swing through Massachusetts, stopping over in Durham to test the strength of the state university's quintet. In the early stages of the contest, the locals held sway, but the Bates team fought an uphill fight to conquer by the score of 46-36.

The following night in Medford, the Bates basketeers again came from behind. Paced by the sharp eye of Jack Joyce the visitors romped in the late stages of the contest to gain a 52-41 victory.

The first defeat of the season was administered by a superior Worcester Tech five on the following evening. At this stage of the road-trip, the Bates representatives were too fatigued to muster a closing rally. Even the dependable Joyce was incapable of sparking his teammates, and the Tech men gained a 54-33 win.

The basketball endeavors of Bates terminated at that point for the Christmas recess. Shortly after the return of the student body to the campus, the team was seen by its supporters for the first time. During the vacation, it was announced that another of our coaches, Wade Marlette, had answered the call to the colors and had entered the Navy. To replace him at the head of the court squad, the college was fortunate to procure the services of Hyme Shanahan, head coach at Lewiston High.

His proteges were seen in action in this contest with the team representing the Dow Field Army Air Base. In a thrilling double overtime contest, the Bates outfit emerged victorious. Although it was again Jack Joyce who poured the highest number of points through the nets, Captain Norm Boyan won the game with the deciding basket during the overtime period. The final score was 59-56.

January 12, the Bobcats journeyed to Orono to open the State Series against Maine. Throughout the contest, Maine enjoyed a lead, but it was closed with a minute to play. At this point, Maine again swung into high gear and swished eight points through the hoops to win 57-49.

Returning to Lewiston, Bates entertained the Bath Iron Works five, led by the famed Stan Stutz, Intercollegiate high scoring ace from Rhode Island. Throughout the major part of the contest, Bates scored at will, enjoying a thirteen-point advantage at the halfway mark. But with the pressure on, the professional basketeers demonstrated their prowess and eked out a one-point win in the final minute of play. Final score: 55-54.

A return match with the Dow Field court team was played on January 29, with the home team having an easier time in gaining its second victory. Only one overtime had to be played that evening. The contest ended with Bates going away by a large margin of four points, 51-47.

For the third contest in a row Bates entertained a non-collegiate quintet. The evening of February 3, the Fort Williams team provided the competition for the improving Bobcat outfit. This game saw a slow-starting Bates five turn on the heat after some preliminary sparring to coast home with a 61-49 win.

Returning to collegiate ranks, the Garnet suffered another Series defeat. The Colby Mules of Waterville, sparked by the excellent guarding of the high-scoring Joyce by Gene Hunter, eked out a one-point decision. The final basket came with seconds to play on a do-or-die shot by the same Hunter. At this date, the possibilities of the Bobcats to attain the high rung in the state championship race looked rather slim.

A reversal of the single point defeat was the outcome of the next foray by the Garnet iron-man squad. One of the most spine-tingling of all basketball games seen by this writer occurred in this contest with the Black Bear of Maine on February 11. Throughout the contest, the lead changed hands with unthinkable rapidity. When the basket of Work brought the visitors within one point of victory the adeptness of the home club to freeze the ball for an indefinite period brought a victory of 52-51.

Shortly after this excellent display of basketball ability the fans were treated to the sight of one of the most phlegmatic of all teams to ever visit the Bates campus. The much stepped on five from Bowdoin were handed a half-hearted shellacking by a more experienced and versatile home five. The final score was 48-20, with half of the Polar Bear's score the result of free throws.

A return to the now-accustomed caliber of basketball was witnessed when the Northeastern team visited Lewiston. Shortly before this contest, the services of Captain Boyan and Card were called to the Army. To replace these two were Gabby Deering and Bob Cote, drafted from the successful Bates Indies. For three periods the outcome of the game was in serious doubt. But the final period saw the combination of Joyce, Drago and Whitney salting the hide and securely tacking it in the trophy case to the tune of 52-43.

Another and final contest with the Blue and Grey of Colby was the Washington Birthday bill for the local enthusiasts. Patterned much after their first encounter, a low scoring contest ensued. As usual, the lead was never with one team for any length of time until well in the second half. Ben Zecker, high-scoring forward of Colby, continually paced his team to a lead with his incessant tap-in shots. As the end of the contest approached, this Waterville ace put his team into a commanding (for this game) lead of three points. The hopes of the home rooters were not once dimmed until the closing seconds of action when this same Zecker jumped the tally to 37-31, where it stayed until the whistle.

One final encounter was yet to be played, and that was with the underrated Bowdoin outfit. An unexpected show of resistance was met in this trip to Brunswick, and the Bobcats were fortunate to escape with a 30-26 victory. The winning points were looped by an unheralded substitute Mendall in the final rushes of the contest.

This victory enabled the Bates basketball team to close out one of the most imposing of its few seasons in a successful manner. Especial credit must be awarded to Jackie Joyce for his revolutionary feat of scoring 237 points throughout the season for approximately a seventeen point a game average. This Bates quintet enjoyed the best average of any of the other state teams, winning nine out of fourteen contests. Every one of the principal operators on this club are to be commended for their fine team play and ability to continue their fine play under pressure. The final standings of the various state teams are as follows:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.	Pts. For	Pts. Agst.
Bates	9	5	.643	655	610
Colby	8	5	.616	632	606

Here's the answer to a typical question often asked by Freshmen or even seasoned Bates people of the upperclasses. This is the question. How does a girl earn a "B" sweater? The wearers of the "B" really do earn them too. Now for the answer to the question. As the first step the aspirant must take one year of voluntary training before she will be considered. Next she must have received numerals, which are awarded to only 5% of any class its first year, 15% its second year, and to as many as deserve them after that. Numerals themselves are an achievement. Add to these requirements a B posture grade and a scholastic average of at least 2.2. What more could one expect from any girl? The committee making the awards considers sportsmanship, athletic ability, interest, and the number of sports the individual participates in. If this is the basis, do you wonder why any Bates girl is proud to be a wearer of the "B"?
